A MUSEUM AT HOME

stories weaved into fabric

Surely you all love museums, their atmosphere and interesting objects. Today, however, we will see that a small museum can also be hidden in our homes. Let's discover the objects around us! You may be surprised by all that can be read from them.

Recently, I was given an inheritance from my grandmother. It is an embroidered picture (also an embroidered curtain). 'It hung on the wall in our room,' my auntie explained as she gave it to me and nodded to my question if Grandma had embroidered it herself. Immediately I thought, how come my Grandma found time for such an accurate embroidery while working in the fields all days.

It must have been a demanding job, and how carefully it's done! What technique did your Grandma use? And how long did it take her to embroider it?

Why did your Grandma choose this theme? And why this text? And why did she actually embroider it? Apparently, it's a tradition ... Do you know if it survived to this day?
